

Colonial Program Opens Star Parade

RAY MILLAND

PVT. EDDIE FISHER

SID CAESAR

Caesar, Fisher Join Milland in Revue

• "TIME FOR DEFENSE," starring Ray Milland, Sid Caesar, and Eddie Fisher, will open this year's Colonial Program series tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Lisner Auditorium, program director Bill Scarrow announced.

Operating under the auspices of the Department of Defense, the program will also feature the Army Air Force Orchestra and chorus. This first Colonial program will be recorded and re-broadcast over the American Broadcasting Company network, October 22, Scarrow told the Student Council. Admission is free to university students.

Ray Milland, Paramount pictures star, will deliver an inspirational message devoted to the Army Air Force blood campaign, with musical background by the orchestra and chorus. Sid Caesar, stage and television comedian, featured on "Your Show of Shows," will present an adaptation of his sketch on the "movie version of an aerial dogfight." Private Eddie Fisher, recording artist, will sing a special arrangement of "Unless."

Symphony Performs

The Air Force Symphony Orchestra, directed by Colonel George S. Howard and the "Singing Sergeants," directed by Warrant Officer Robert L. Landers, will present several musical selections. The Air Force orchestra, with the chorus in "Freedom Is Everybody's Job."

Usually a news and documentary type program this "Time for Defense," is a special production marking the beginning of the second year of broadcast. Each week's show features recorded reports from defense correspondents in all parts of the world.

All Service Program

"Time for Defense," is an all-service program recording the activities of service men and women all over the world. General George Marshall declared that the program is designed "to permit history to explain itself while it is still happening." Radio time for the program is devoted by ABC in the public interest and the performance is broadcast overseas.

Limited Tickets

A limited number of tickets are available to university students who wish to see the show. The tickets may be picked up in the Student Activities office in the Student Union Annex.

This first Colonial program marks the beginning of a series of performances sponsored by the Student Council which will continue throughout the year.

Frosh To Vote November 2

• ALL UNIVERSITY Freshmen should examine the candidate slate this week in preparation for freshman class elections Friday, November 2. The offices slated are president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Election Rules

All University students having less than 30 hours are eligible upon presenting a signed activities book and some valid identification card containing the signature of the voter.

Don Harmer, Student Council Advocate announced the following rules governing the election:

- 1) Candidates must be members of the freshman class and must not be carrying more than 30 hours.
- 2) Any candidate desiring to run must file a petition in the Student Activities Office by 5 p.m. Friday, October 26.
- 3) The candidate must not be on probation.

$30 Maximum

4) No candidate may spend more than $30 for his campaign. Receipts for all expenses must be turned in to the Student Activities Office by 5 p.m. November 2.

5) The space for an ad in the Hatchet must not exceed five dollars.

6) All posters to be used on University property must be limited to 11 inches by 14 inches, and must be approved by the Business Office.

7) No posters may be placed in the Student Union Building or Annex.

8) No public address systems, stationary or mobile may be used.

9) Use of a cavalcade must be checked with the advocate.

Breach of Rules

10) There must be no campaigning between Leo's and the west end of Monroe Hall, in the Student Union Building or Annex.

11) Any breach of these rules must be reported to the advocate by 5 p.m. November 3. Any such breach will disqualify the candidate.

All candidates must speak at the election forum Wednesday, October 31, at 12 p.m. in Government.

Voting will take place Friday, November 2, 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 7:45 p.m. Balloting will be in front of the Student Union Annex. (See FROSH VOTE, Page 2)

Players Announce Tryouts For 'Green Grow the Lilacs'

• TRYOUTS FOR Lynn Riggs' play, "Green Grow the Lilacs," the opening production of the University Players' 1951-52 season, will be held October 24-26 in Studio A of Lisner Auditorium.

The original version of the musical "Oklahoma," it is a folk-drama that employs a large cast and utilizes the talents of choral and ballet groups. There are five leading male roles and three leading female roles. The entire cast, however, will be much larger. Tryouts are open to everyone.

Chekov's "The Boor"

In producing the play, Director Arnold Colbath will collaborate with the Glee Club and the Dance Groups. Singers, dancers, actors, and technicians, regardless of experience, are invited to audition. The play is tentatively scheduled for the second week in December.

October 23 the Players will present a one-act play, Chekov's "The Boor," at an open meeting at 8:30 p.m. in Studio A. The play will later be presented at public high schools in the Washington area. Tryouts for "The Boor" are still in progress. Interested students should contact Colbath in Lisner Auditorium.

At the last meeting of the Players the new officers were introduced. They are: Ann Burwell, president; Verlyn Brown, vice-president; Frances Newton, secretary; and Madeline Tress, treasurer.

The Player's have organized a play-reading committee to select plays which would be of interest to the student body. The committee will submit several suggestions to director Colbath, who will then select from the list the next two major productions for the year.

At last week's Player's meeting Ruth Mills, Janet Carter and Bob Tron presented a one-act play by Arthur Schnitzler, "Countess Mizzi." Future meetings will be held on the first Wednesday of every month. Those interested in any type of theatrical work are welcome.

Student Council Appoints Cole, Deck to Vacancies

• THE TWO EXISTING vacancies on the Student Council were filled last Thursday; Marjorie Cole was appointed secretary and William Deck received the post of Activities Director.

The two vacancies were created by the summer resignations of Barbara Worley, former secretary, and Burke Critchfield, activities director, both of whom failed to re-register.

Bill Deck was the only applicant for the post, and Miss Cole was one of five. Nancy Dilli, Freshman director, has been acting secretary, and Deck has been activities director. Besides participating in the Junior Follies, Modern Dance Production Groups, Cherry Tree, and the Foreign Affairs Club, Miss Cole is Social Chairman of Panhel, a member of Big Sisters, and president of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Bill Deck was recently re-elected president of Kappa Alpha.

Many Complaints

Many complaints from students concerning the quality of food in the cafeteria, prompted Bob Harwood, Student Union Chairman, to move a resolution be adopted by the Council, recommending an improvement in the food situation. The resolution was passed unanimously and Warren Hull, president, requested that a copy of the resolution be sent to Mrs. Birdie Harris, Student Union manager.

Harwood also suggested a survey be undertaken to determine how many students purchase their food at Leo's and then eat it in the Student Union.

An amendment to clarify the eligibility requirements of Council positions, especially concerning transfer students, was suggested.

Symphony Tickets

Dick Malzone, member-at-large, said that attempts are in progress to obtain student tickets for the National Symphony Orchestra at half price. Last year's reduction was 10 per cent Malzone stated, and the action is under way by the National Student Association. The manager of the National Symphony Orchestra committee, according to Malzone, has already approved it, and it should be settled in the near future.

McKenzie To Speak

• THE REVEREND Charles Steward McKenzie, minister of Western Presbyterian Church, will speak to students of the University at weekly Chapel service tomorrow at 12:10 p.m. in Room 205 of Building D and will continue through December 5.

Society Honors Dr. Marvin

• "RELAXATION NOT WORK" was the way Dr. Floyd Heck Marvin described his interest in the University's building program over the years. President Marvin spoke last Thursday night at the reception given for him by the Beta Gamma chapter of Phi Delta Kappa in the American Association of University Women clubrooms. The reception commemorated his 25 years as president of the university.

Speaking extemporaneously Dr. Marvin told his audience something about the University and how it grew. Whenever the administrative and educational functions of his office became too great, he commented, he relaxed over the building plans of the latest addition to the campus. Dr. Marvin also paid tribute to the brilliant men at the University who made his work possible and accepted him as one of their own.

Preceding Dr. Marvin and introduced by General William S. Rumbough, president of the national Phi Delta Kappa and master of ceremonies for the event, were Dr. Charles E. Bish, principal of Mc-

WAF Offers Women Posts

• THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCE is offering direct commissions and active duty assignments for women college graduates having business experience.

Top quality women are needed to fill 2,800 officer positions before July, 1952. Wanted are women with baccalaureate or higher college degrees, having three years or more of business experience.

Applicants must be 24, but less than 32 years of age at time of appointment.

Appointments as Second and First Lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve will be made directly from civilian life.

Pay and allowances, including a $250 uniform allowance, and other benefits are the same as those offered male officers. Pay starts upon appointment.

Appointees under this program will have wide opportunity for promotion and interesting assignments both in the United States and abroad, in the expanding Air Force.

Women selected will have open to them a wide range of assignments, including almost every phase of Air Force operation.

As WAF officers they will be eligible for further education and training at many service schools.

After one year of active duty these WAF officers, if qualified, may compete for regular Air Force commissions.

SAE Group Meets

• SIGMA ALPHA ETA, national speech and hearing fraternity, will open its activities for the fall semester with a talk by Mrs. Zelma Kosh, supervisor of speech education in Arlington County public schools, in room A of Woodhill House, Wednesday, October 24, at 8 p.m.

Anyone interested in corrective work in speech and hearing is invited to attend by the president of Sigma Alpha Eta.

Law Students To Compete In Contest

• REGISTRATION for the Case Club competitions for the year is now open. All University Law School students are eligible to participate in the contest sponsored by the Van Vleck Case Club.

Participation in the contest is the only practice in appellate advocacy available in the Law School, according to a Case Club official. The cases assigned are chosen for the student in a field he has studied or is now studying. Upperclassmen who have participated in competitions are available as advisers to the contestants.

Registration is today and tomorrow from 8:45 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. and from 5:15 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. All first year students are urged to register.

In addition to the practice afforded by the contest, the student's entry is recorded in the Law School Office for future reference. Plaques and other honors are available to the outstanding contestants. Judging will be by an attorney, a faculty member and a student on the Law Review staff in the preliminaries and by prominent judges of the U.S. Courts for the finals.

Law Alums Name Lohnes

• HORACE L. LOHNEs, Washington attorney, has been elected president of the University Law Alumni Association.

Other officers elected are Vernon Romney, Salt Lake City, Utah, first vice-president; Judge Sarah T. Hughes, Dallas, Tex., second vice-president; Weston Vernon, Jr., New York City, third vice-president; Samuel C. Caldwell, Washington, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the executive committee are C. Oscar Berry, Cameron Burton, Cecil Kilpatrick, John E. McClure and Charles S. Rhyne, all of Washington; William E. Doyle, Denver; Douglas Hudson, Fort Scott, Kan.; Joseph D. Hughes, Pittsburgh, and Judge Philbrick McCoy, Los Angeles.

School of Education

Dr. Bish, speaking on Dr. Marvin's effect and contributions toward education in the Washington area, told his listeners that one-half of the personnel in the school administrations of Arlington, Prince Georges and Montgomery counties, are graduates of the University's School of Education.

As an "inside" man Dr. Fox commented on President Marvin's interest in the University's research activities, where at present over 100 research projects are underway. He also told the audience that Dr. Marvin is one of the founders and first secretary of the National Association on Accrediting. This Association is working towards the standardization of college transfer requirements, which, he said, would be of great benefit to students at all universities.

Various schools at the University will honor Dr. Marvin throughout the jubilee year, but no definite plans for the near future have been made, according to Mr. John R. Busick, Director of The University's Public Relations office.

Phi DG Holds First Meeting

• PHI DELTA GAMMA, national graduate fraternity, will hold its first meeting of the semester Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Woodhull House.

Mrs. George Callas, principal of Pleasant View School and chairman of the National Council on Safety in elementary education, will speak on "Group Dynamics." Mrs. Callas also served as consultant to the President on the National Program for Safety. Included on the program is a "Report on the N.E.A. Convention" by Miss Mary Doyle, teacher in the MacFarland Junior High School. Miss Elizabeth D. Griffith, regional director of the N.E.A. for the District of Columbia, will conclude the program with her comments on the N.E.A.

The officers of Phi Delta Gamma are as follows: Dora M. Ihle, president; Eliza Callas, vice-president; Isabelle M. Mikus, recording secretary; Katherine Pagan, corresponding secretary, and Winifred Cox, treasurer.

Hatchet Meeting
• SPORTS WRITERS and rewrite men are needed to round out the staff of The University Hatchet. All persons interested in gaining valuable experience in journalism are invited to attend the staff meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Annex.

Mortar Board Features Forum On Student-Faculty Relations

• "INDIVIDUAL EFFORT is the keynote for success in solving campus problems," according to the Mortar Board Women Leaders' Forum, Saturday afternoon.

In discussing how to improve student-faculty relationships one of the important points was the effort of the individual student to get to know his professor, not only as an instructor, but also as a consultant and friend. In referring to the club advisers, it was felt that this was a field for great improvement since often instructors are not invited to meetings and are ignored when they do arrive. It was brought out in the discussion, led by Claudia Chapline, that advisers can be a big help to the organization for they have more experience and can lend invaluable advice to discussions.

The Forum opened with a few welcoming remarks by Nancy Saunders, Mortar Board president. Marilyn Sandwick, secretary of Mortar Board, gave a talk and led discussion on the problem of using the committee system. It is important to have the committee do the work and not just the chairman so the new members of the organization can learn its workings.

Skits Given

Light spots on the program were the demonstration skits on parliamentary procedure given by Nancy Saunders, Faye Zigmund, Dorothy Lee and Lou Ann Hall. They first illustrated a meeting without parliamentary procedure. Nothing was accomplished and confusion reigned supreme. The second skit, using simple parts of procedure, such as is suitable for a typical campus club, accomplished something. The Mortar Board's suggestions for improving meetings were: 1. To keep attention centered on one main motion at a time. 2. To start the meetings on time. 3. To simplify the work of the business meeting, by delegating the routine problems to a committee.

Jeanne Cleary gave a short talk on making the foreign students feel at home at the University. Her main point was the individual effort of the students.

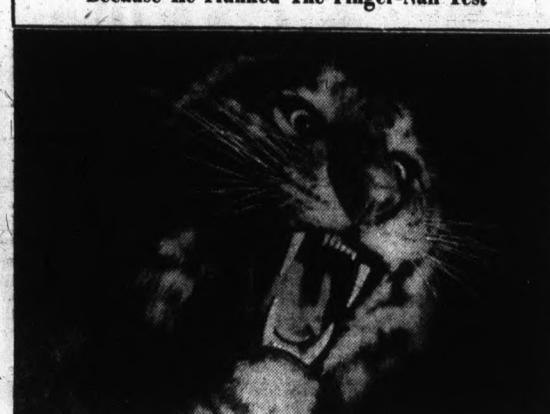

Discussion Groups

The forum then broke up into four discussion groups. The one on faculty-student relations concluded that the main problem lay with the new students since most seniors and juniors don't get to know their major professors.

The discussion on school spirit came back to the fundamental problems of publicity and individual effort. Many organizations trying to get a turnout for an event overlook the obvious angle of giving the details to the Hatchet for publication. Others fail to have all the members pass the word along casually in conversation in the Union or in class. The discussion definitely decided that school spirit is more than the attendance and cheering at the athletic games.

Individual contacts and the treatment of the student as a person, not one of a mob, are the most important features on any program to get part-time and independent women into the activities.

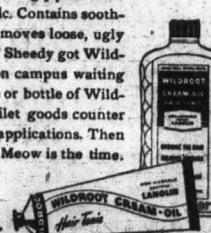

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

DON'T let those stripes fool you. J. Paul was no prisoner of love! His hair looked like a tiger rag, and he was feline mighty low. But did Sheedy buy a wig? No! He's not a cheetah! "I hate to be caty," his roommate said, "but even an ugly puss looks better with Wildroot Cream-Oil Non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin! Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the fingernail test!" Sheedy got Wildroot Cream-Oil, and now he has every girl on campus waiting in line for a date! So, be cagey... get a tube or bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil Hair Tonic at any drug or toilet goods counter today. And ask your barber for professional applications. Then you'll be the cat's pajamas. 25th Jubilee

• THIS MONTH MARKS the beginning of Doctor Cloyd H. Marvin's 25th year as president of the University. It is a period that bespeaks of great achievement. Over the past quarter-century this institution, under the guidance of Dr. Marvin, has rapidly matured both in its scholastic reputation and in its accumulation of physical wealth.

It would be difficult to single out any one of Dr. Marvin's contributions for particular distinction since his accomplishments of worth are so numerous; however, it can generally be agreed that the accrediting of a university and its various schools is of great importance and many people will cite this phase of Dr. Marvin's activity as most significant.

Since Dr. Marvin's appointment to the position of president in 1927, the University has been fully accredited by the Association of American Universities and the Association of American Women. Liberal arts work has been recognized through the establishment of a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and science teaching recognized through the founding of a chapter of Sigma Xi. The School of Engineering has been accredited by the Engineers Council for Professional Development.

A second phase of scholastic achievement in this period has been the elevation of standards for students and faculty. Scholarship and entrance requirements have been raised, the number of full time faculty members has been increased and similarly the number of faculty members holding Ph.D degrees has been enlarged.

Dr. Marvin's third academic contribution is in the area of organization and reorganization. The Junior College was established under the principle that all students seeking degrees should have an introduction to liberal arts in their first two years at the University. As a result of this plan the Columbian College was reorganized as a senior college of liberal arts. Further, the Graduate Council was organized to administer only the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. An independent Study Plan was brought forth. Finally the School of Government was reorganized and endowed.

The President has also assisted immeasurably in the financial and physical growth of the school. Notable has been the increase in property holdings and the zooming proportions of endowment and budget funds.

Eight new buildings have been added to a swiftly expanding campus: Lisner Auditorium, Monroe Hall, The Medical Laboratory, Biological and Social Science Hall, Hall of Government, Lisner Library, Strong Hall, and the University Hospital.

Therefore, as Dr. Marvin begins his 25th year as president of the University we congratulate him on his leadership in guiding the growth and maturation of our institution.

Thanks!

• AFTER FIVE YEARS of devoted service to the University and the women students matriculated herein, Mrs. Anne Wacker retires today from public service.

She has been assistant director of Women's Activities during her association with The University. Miss Virginia Kirkbride, Dean of Women, has expressed her sincere appreciation along with the faculty and students for a job well done.

'55 Freshman Class Revives Buff Spirit

By DICK RIECKEN

• HAVE YOU ever looked back on past college days and tried to determine just what interested you most at registration time each school year? You might have done just that last September and decided that the new class of freshmen caught your attention. If you are an active student, then you would picture these new students as filling organizations, making college functions a success; and generally being someone who in future years you'd like to claim as an alumnus of your alma mater. You will see in these students those who will carry on the traditions and spirit which your class has tried to make a part of this University. Perhaps you did not look at yourself this way when you entered the University a few years ago; but now you are an upperclassman, more University conscious, have had many more college memories than you did as a freshman of 1952, and this year you may have watched the Freshman Class of 1955 at their Orientation Assembly and Dance Monday and Friday of last week. You stood there as a silent observer and heard a hardy response to cheerleaders' directions, a moving spirit when they sang the Alma Mater, and saw a great number flood the lounge of Lisner to sign for activities on campus. If you were a student advisor or member of the Student Council then you would have been equally glad to see the tremendous turn out at the Freshman Dance. Especially for Freshman Director Nancy Dilli was the affair a success.

The new students seem exceptionally friendly, eager and capable. If you were the viewer of all this scene, you had the opportunity to address the students at their Orientation Dance, had the opportunity to meet many of them on campus; then you might have said to them on last Friday night: "Your spirit is grand! We witnessed it in the Orientation Assembly last Monday and here tonight by the throngs of freshmen."

We, as the oldsters of the University, can only say that you can teach many of the upperclass GW students spirit and enjoyment of college life. And if you are anxious to channel this vitality into activities, you can see no better persons than those on the Student Council, because they represent most of the organizations on campus through their own membership or interests.

With the addition of yourselves to campus activities we will have good reason to be expectant of one of the finest years ever and to have greater pride in our University. Freshmen, we can only congratulate you and encourage you to continue this spirit into every activity you singularly or as a group undertake.

We can praise you if a great number of you Freshmen of 1955 go to the poll in November to elect your officers, if you support a successful class party, and if you create an excellent freshman skit for the All-U Follies. This is the challenge that past freshman classes have met with varying success. You are the seniors of several years hence, the leaders of many campus groups, the persons who will learn much today about college life.

Booster Seats

• COLONIAL BOOSTERS has issued a statement explaining the confusion in student seating at last Friday night's VPI game. There were only two sections reserved for activity book holders. This arrangement was made without the knowledge of the Boosters Seating Chairman who based his plans on past allocation of space. Boosters has assured that all Booster members will have their reserved seats as usual at the Wake Forest game this Friday night.

Rally, Dance

• IN YOUR last issue you photographed a car returning from the pep rally with a caption that went Rah, Rah, Fizz . . . a timely criticism of lack of school spirit on that particular night and at that particular time.

I agree that we should attempt to encourage Johnny-well-somebody-else-will-take-my-place to attend such rallies, by such shocking publicity of truthful conditions; yet let me point out for the readers that at 8:45 p.m. freshmen were gathering in front of Woodhull to attend the Freshmen Dance to be held at the Terrace Room in the National Airport. Big Sis, Student Council members, and many usually old faithfuls had dates to pick up or to act as chauffeurs and hostesses. The time also had to compete with the attention due to meals after classes or digestion of meals or of class information.

I wish to comment that from what I have been told, the programming of the rally was very complete, and it is my feeling that the idea of a special night rally was to allow Maryland to assume the rivalry position which Georgetown held for so many years on our football calendar. Let me say that perhaps this space would have been better used if you had told more of the very successful Freshmen Dance.

Sincerely,
Dick Riecken

THE BIG CLEANUP

• GEORGETOWN HAS DROPPED varsity football, but the players from last year's squad continue their careers elsewhere. Here's where they've gone: Bill McCarthy, standout sophomore last year, is at Notre Dame; John McGinn, 220-pound guard, has gone to West Point; running back Dick Doyle to Boston College, and linemen Jim Shenk and Ralph Charney to the not-so-good-after-all Kentucky Wildcats. At the Hilltop, intramural football has replaced inter-collegiate competition. Headlines in the HOYA proclaim that football is "back as a sport, NOT a big business." Even the Saturday Evening Post is applauding the purity of Georgetown's motives. We wonder if basketball, too, is not a big business, and particularly so at Georgetown. Football may have cost the Hoyas a cool million; but basketball is bringing money in, and it's a different story when profit replaces loss. Or when profit replaces reform.

GUTS

At a tennis meet, a bored cat turned to a very interested cat and remarked, "You seem very interested in tennis." "It's not that," replied the second cat, "it's just that my old man's in the racket."

CAMPUS SCANDALS IN BRIEF

At Southern California—"Vice squatters of the L. A. Police Department raided the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity Monday night after a telephoned tip that gambling was being carried on . . . the case was thrown out of court, however, when it developed that the annual Monte Carlo affair was a non-profit, all-alumni affair . . . All three vice officers wore civilian clothes, a member commented. They came in, ate up all the popcorn, and then proceeded to make the pinch."

MUD-SLINGING

Attorney: "Give me his exact words."

Witness: "Well, he said that you're a dirty chiselier."

Have you met

Joe Inzenna

By Pepper Salte

• THE VOICE AT the other end of the wire laughed, then said: "Well, I could tell you the usual things a class president says when asked what he's going to do during his term." Then the voice dispiritedly recited the list of glib promises designed to please the constituents. "But that's not all I'm going to do."

The voice was Joseph Francis Inzenna's. I had asked him the usual questions reporters ask class presidents. But Joe had not given me the usual answers.

Joe gave more details in a later interview. He thinks that once people are in the Student Council, they tend to lose their identity as members of their respective classes, and they get all jumbled up. Joe suggests, four liaison officers, one from each class—and possibly chosen from the class officers—could either sit directly on the Student Council or sit on a committee set up for them by that body. The question of whether they should vote or not would remain at the discretion of the Council, and isn't particularly important to Joe. What is important to him is this group of four people, who would serve as a contact between the mass of voiceless students below and the few legislators at the top. This plan, the opinions and recommendations transmitted by the students to their respective representatives, would be offered to and digested by the council more quickly.

More class spirit is Joe's theme. And he thinks his plan would make each class stand out more clearly and more spiritedly than ever before. Apart from the scholastic advantage, there is almost nothing that distinguishes a freshman from a senior at the college, and, in Joe's opinion, there is something to be said for more class spirit, which would in its turn create more campus spirit.

As far as his own class is concerned, Joe plans to raise more money, perhaps by means of a dance; to start the all-U follies rehearsal a little earlier than last year, and to work (See Indiana, Page 8)

• WELL, LAST WEEK the race for sorority pledges ended, with all sides heaving a great sigh of relief; fixed little smiles have disappeared and the girls have gone back to being their good old selves again, hollering across the Union to each other, and glad to be able to talk to anyone at fraternity parties. On the other hand, the male segment of the Greeks hasn't been spared yet; their parties go on and on. The strain is terrific. One poor Frat man cracked under it and was seen running around the Frat House shaking all his Frat Brothers' hands, saying "glad to meet you, have you filled out one of our rush folders? Drop around to some of our Rush parties." His brothers were kind and gently led him back to the closet. From the appearance of the Frat men at the Sunday football games, the goin' must have been rough Saturday night.

The latest news on pinning, engagements, and marriages:

Linda Law, Chi O, is pinned to Bill Glue, G. W. Med. School. Jack Voneiff, Grand Dragon of Sigma Nu, was handing out cigars Fri. night to celebrate his pinning of Jan Carter, Delta Gamma. Fred Gunn, Imperial Potentate of the Tekes, is pinned to Ginnie Swanson, KD. "Twinkle Toes" Ace Adler, Phi Alpha, and his Marge have set the date for late December. Bob Edenbaum and his Sandy are engaged. Maxine Sowards, ADPi, is now sporting a diamond from Carl Balli, PiKA. Another ADPi Pat Brown, is engaged to George Sebold, KS from N. C. U. Don Morgan, Acacia, pinned B. J. Thomas this summer and his frat brother, Walter Fackler, married Hazel Shephardson, ADPi.

Phi Sig Ferd Cordano, a part-time gendarme in Cheverly, Md., really shook up Theta Delt Sam Portwine the other night as Sam sped through a stop sign. Fred laughed, Sam shook, but there was no ticket.

Sat. night the Sigma Chi's had another "Roarin' 20's" party. The combo played "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" a la bop tempo. Ed. Note: No one recognized it. Also on Sat. night the Sigma Nus were serenaded by G.W.'s "Colonials" quartette. Wade Currier, Steve Anderson and Sigma Nus Dick Hedges and John Parker put on a fine performance, particularly the number Rigolette. The G. W. U. and Maryland chapters of Phi Alpha threw a joint affair at the Annapolis Hotel after the game last Sat. The Maryland chapter was shown that the Terps may be better on the field, but on the dance floor G. W. has them beat a mile. Even Hal Mesirow with his right leg in a cast from too much enthusiasm in a recent football practice was tripping the light fantastic.

PiKA Kenny Samuelson's Chi O, Mickey Whitsitt arrived in town Saturday. KD Pledge, Len Argo went up to Columbia's Homecoming last week end. KD Ginnie Perrott is back in circulation again . . . ? Betty Newell, ADPi, also went to Columbia this week end. Wonder what the attraction up there is? G. W. artist, Jack Lewis presently busy putting Pat Frankouser, Pi Phi pledge, on canvas at the TKE Conn. Ave. penthouse. Former G. W. student, Bob Carpenter, TKE, now playing first string on the glee club at West Point.

Fran Newton, Hatch. Ed., collapsed on the floor on seeing Foggy Bottom where Georg Tennyson's name appeared for the first time. Yea, Georg, you finally broke your record! Warren Gould seen standing in a thunderstorm in front of the Chi O rooms, ah, waiting for whom? The big question at the Sigma Nu house is who is going to be Nancy Dill's (Chi O) date when Woody is out flying for Capitol Airlines. (plug) Carolyn Wood, Pi Phi, really fell for the Marines drill team at the football game; she became so interested in their manoeuvres (that's British you know) that she tripped and fell.

Lols Lee's famous Pontiac (on the front page of last week's Hatchet) was driven to the Maryland game by Phi Alphian Irwin Borstein, who promises that the car is holding up well, under the pressure. Where does Mike Sileo PIKA go after the meetings? The SN's entertained the Pi Phis and their pledges Wednesday night after their pledging ceremonies. (See FOGGY BOTTOM, Page 8)

Question: What do you think of the food in the Student Union? Would you be willing to pay higher prices for better food?

Richard Peppers—(fulltime Senior)—I don't think higher prices are necessary for better food. I will say, though, that a lot of the criticisms are exaggerated.

Laurie Gallagher (daytime Junior)—I buy what seems to appeal to me, but I never really taste it; I'm always more interested in my friends and the conversation.

Brandau Hughes (fulltime Senior)—I don't like it. The food is good, but it's not cooked right. It's either over-seasoned or under-seasoned.

Zara Pearson (daytime Freshman)—The only time I enjoyed it was when I ate there. No, I wouldn't pay higher prices. The budget, you know honey-chile.

—It's fairly good. No, I wouldn't pay higher prices, not when I can go down to the Hot Shoppe and get it.

Betty Gertsch (daytime Senior)—I can't stand the food in the Student Union. I would be willing to pay higher prices, though. Why don't they just move Leo's closer to the Student Union?

Nina Hutchinson (nighttime Junior)—The quality of the food is good on the whole. The service is not so good.

Anonymous (fulltime Freshman)

—I think it's about average for the price.

Jane Almy (daytime graduate student)—The food is generally good, but perhaps several things which are the same price elsewhere could be better, for instance the hot chocolate.

Norm Thurau (fulltime Junior)—I think it is a well-managed, finely-run cafeteria serving food which is palatable.

Anonymous Vet (fulltime)—Horrible. They need more variety and imagination.

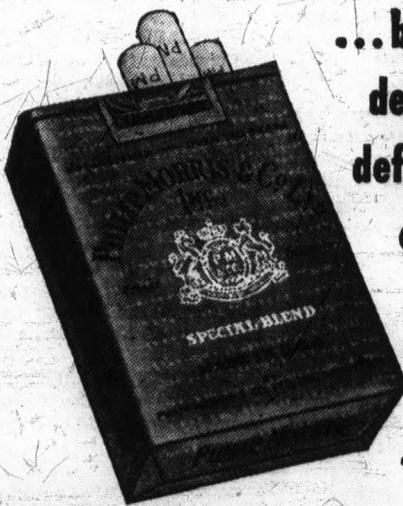

Betty Shumway (daytime special student)—I think the food is a little expensive. The quality of the food is acceptable.

Cherry Tree Pictures

• INDIVIDUAL PICTURES are now being taken in Woodhill House for the 1952 CHERRY TREE. All seniors, fraternity and sorority members and pledges are urged to make their appointment immediately. Appointments may be made from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the Student Union lobby. Any fraternity or sorority wishing to have their pictures taken in a block may make arrangements to do so at the booth. The photographer will remain late for any such group of 20 persons or more.

Homecoming Features Rally, Game, Dance Dance Closes Door On Annual Festivity

• THE HOMECOMING QUEEN will be crowned by Warren Hull, Student Council President, Saturday night during intermission at the Homecoming dance. New members of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary fraternity, will be tapped.

Tickets for the dance have been reduced from $5.00 to $4.00 this year, and are on sale in the lobby of the Student Union and at the Co-op store. Sherwood Drake, co-director of the Homecoming Committee, urges all students to buy tickets early to obtain reserved tables. The dance will be held in the Presidential and Congressional rooms of the Statler Hotel from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Members of the dance committee include: Anne Ellis and Sherwood Drake, co-directors; Phil Cohan, parade marshal; Marge Horning, queen director; Nell Weaver, ticket chairman; Bill Giglio, dance chairman, and Ruth Yalom, publicity chairman.

Dance Ends Gayety

The Homecoming Dance will close the door on three days of homecoming activity including a pep rally sponsored by the Colonial Boosters in Lisner Auditorium, and a football game with the Wake Forest Deacons.

High point of the Friday night Homecoming game between the Colonials and the Deacons of Wake Forest will be the annual half-time parade.

Campus organizations will compete in presenting the most original float. The parade will be headed by a float carrying the Queen finalists. Cups will be awarded to the three outstanding entries designed by campus organizations.

Last year the three loving cups were presented to Sigma Nu, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi.

Students, Here's Our Chance Let's Root For Our Team!

By NAN MCKINNEY

• WERE YOU in the Student Union the first week of school?

Did you, by some chance, see a buff card with blue lettering in the center of the table? Did you read the card or did you push it aside so you could reach the ash tray easier?

Did you listen to the announcement over the loud speaker?

Did you pass by the bulletin board when you left, and did you read your copy of the Hatchet?

Yes, you saw, you heard, you felt you should go to the PEP RALLY, but you didn't.

Team Needs You

You felt YOU weren't needed, there would be too many others. You felt you wouldn't be missed—but you were. The team needs your enthusiasm and support. They need your cheers and organized demonstrations. Maryland's team had this support. Maryland won. Nineteen enthusiastic Colonials attended our PEP RALLY. Each of the 19 was required to furnish the noise and enthusiasm for many hundreds of students enrolled in school. That was too much to ask, they couldn't do it.

Flood Lights

The Colonial Boosters did its part. It furnished a loud speaker truck, flood lights, railroad flares, and cheer leaders.

That PEP RALLY was the first in a series, it wasn't your "last chance." Listen to the loud speaker!

Watch the bulletin board!

Read the Hatchet!

Come to the next PEP RALLY!
THE PLACE: LISNER AUDITORIUM.

Foggy Bottom

Seems there's a new crop of party girls in the crowd. Phi Alpha had their Sport and Skirt Spur at the Dodge Hotel Saturday. It surpassed their famous Sailing Marina Affair and the party at the old house where all guests had to climb through a window to enter and dance around the palm tree in the middle of the living room.

If you hear a Zeta sniffing, it's because of the picnic at Falls Creek recently. PiKA Fred Harman, transferred here from W. and L. to join the mob in the Union.

Weddings, engagements, and pinnings or what activities did you engage in this summer? Nancy Waite, Chi O, wed to Rick Bauman. Sandy Parker, Chi O, married to Justin Downs. Lois Barnard, Chi O, engaged to Bob Phillips. Kay Radecevic, KD, has flown to Alaska to marry A. F. Lt. Bob Rutledge. Eileen Hager engaged to Joseph McNeal, PiKA. KKG Betty Wilkes married to SAE Russ Roberts. Gene Ford and Ralph Embler, SAE's, hit the wedding trail this week. Lt. Hank Wold, USMC, pinned to Doris Metteer. John Lythe, also of Acacia, pinned to a Maryland Tri-Delta, but he won't tell his brothers her name—other than that she's a Betty.

Larry Zaroff (Tau Ep) ignoring the coffee cup . . . to pour cream and sugar in Dave Goldberg's pocket . . . a good night's sleep, perhaps. . . . Sig "Suds" Redmond giving the bartenders at the I.F.C. smoker "drawing" lessons . . . the soul of an artist, that boy. . . . KD's Doris Severe and Joan Gallagher report they were spirited at the Georgia game . . .

If a guy named Sweeney (Sweeney of Welling Hall, that is) can move his feet on a football field as fast as he moved 'em on the dance floor: gridiron history!

Well, we leave you until next week with nothing to do but get dates for Homecoming, go to rush parties, try to study and maybe, even go to class.

Wearily yours,
Foggy and Bottom

ACP Meets At Pittsburgh

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS working with publications are invited to attend this year's annual Associated Collegiate Press Convention in Pittsburgh, Pa., Thursday and Friday.

Conference registration will take place Thursday morning and the conference session begins at 2:00 p.m. The University of Pittsburgh will be the host school.

Program sessions separate newspaper, yearbook, and magazine delegates; daily newspaper delegates from weekly; large weeklies from small; large yearbooks from small.

Several sessions have been planned especially for publications advisers. At the suggestion of last year's delegates, the program includes short courses for magazines, yearbooks and newspapers — each one covering the fundamentals of the field, each one taught by an authority in the field.

All-American publications will be placed on display in a special series of exhibits provided by the Associated Collegiate Press.

Dean Kayser Opens First Chapel Of Academic Season

"THE CHAPEL is the University's declaration of faith in God and the need of spiritual values in education," declared Dean Elmer Louis Kayser at the opening chapel service last Wednesday. The weekly noonday service at the Western Presbyterian Church from 12:10 to 12:30 p.m. "is an opportunity for both faculty and students to turn aside from the world in prayer and meditation," continued Dean Kayser.

Always a Chapel

Since the founding of the University in 1821, Kayser explained, there has always been a chapel. When the University was rechartered in 1904, it was understood that it be non-denominational, he said. "No teacher shall be barred from teaching, nor student barred from the University, because of religious affiliations," the Dean stated, and thus the chapel service has been inter-denominational. Prominent ministers from the Washington Area are invited to speak.

Higginson Sings

At Wednesday's service, Joan Higginson sang Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer," accompanied by Nancy Poor Tufts at the organ. Next week, Dr. Folkemer, director of the service, will speak on "The Religion of the Second Mile." Joan Higginson will again be guest soloist.

Underwood Comes to End

By VIVIAN ROSENSON

THERE IS a tragedy slowly unfolding in the offices of the University Hatchet. The decrepit Underwood in the extreme left hand corner of the typing room is approaching its end.

But the old machine has not finished trying. With its margin release shot, with a nervous twitch in its spacer, with it "h" badly out of condition, the faithful machine continues to do its best. Ignoring the curses and poundings of irate staff members, it still turns out just as many readable stories as its younger and harder colleagues. Feature, editorial, news—the Underwood writes them all.

Applications Date Set

APPLICATIONS for the December 13, 1951, and April 24, 1952, administrations of the College Qualification Tests are now available at Selective Services Systems boards throughout the country.

Eligible students intending to take this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided. Applications for the December 13 test must be postmarked no later than 12 p.m., November 5, 1951.

According to the Educational Testing Service, it will be to the student's advantage to file his application at once, regardless of the testing date he selects. The results will be reported to the student's Selective Service board for use in considering his deferment as a student.

with both Career Conference and the Placement Office. He also plans to reserve time each week for a senior class officer to sit in an office, open for suggestions by members of the senior class.

"And picnics, and dances," he adds, waving his hand matter-of-factly.

Joe looks like a football player, and that's his hobby. He has played all of the I.F.C. sports, he was athletic chairman of Phi Sigma Kappa, and delegate to the I.F.A.C.; his other activities are the Newman Club, Gate and Key, I.F.C. delegate and member of the Student Council May Day. He has been pledge master and president of his fraternity in 1951. His brothers refer to him as the biggest character."

He was born in North Bergen, N.J., and came to the District to study medicine, which he is now doing. Frank, thorough, and able to grasp a situation quickly, Joe should make a good president. If he keeps up his definite and original ideas, he will make a president to be remembered.

"Up to now, it's been a popularity contest," he growls. Is he going to make it into something else?

Traveling Group Seeks New Voices

By TOM WOJTKOWSKI

TRYOUTS FOR the Glee Club will be held tonight and Thursday evening from 7:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Dimmock Room of Lisner Auditorium. All students interested in singing with this traveling group are invited by the director, to attend these tryout sessions.

During the last year and a half, the flying choristers have nearly encompassed the globe. Under the sponsorship of the Military Air Transport Service, the warblers entertained servicemen from the ice-bound Labrador and Greenland coasts, to the lush tropical hot-spots of the South Seas.

In the remote outposts of the United States Air Forces, the women in the club have been in especial demand. At the far-flung air fields and weather posts, state-side women are a rare sight. Wherever the group went, they were cordially welcomed and entertained, instead of them entertaining. When the clubbers spent last Christmas in the Alaskan wilderness and the ice-bound Aleutians, they were sumptuously feasted on turkey, giblets, nuts, and other Christmas trimmings. They never even knew they were away from home. And all for free, too!

Summer 'In Pacific

The previous summer saw and heard the singers-on-the-Beach at Waikiki, and continuing a hopping across the Pacific Ocean to Guam, Okinawa, and even touching pagoda roof-tops of Tokyo, Japan.

Their cosmopolitan musical experience did not end here. They were soon called on by the Air Forces to entertain the boys on the chilly Labrador stations. Flying all over the Arctic wastes was not new to these hardy singers, they were through it all before. They zipped out over the Greenland Bay to bring spirited college airs to the frigid Greenland bases.

In Washington Area

But, occasionally the University Glee Clubs do sing in the Washington area. They presented an annual Yuletide program, the "Messiah," in conjunction with other area choral groups, accompanied by the Air Force Symphony Orchestra, which was re-broadcast three times over national networks. The club helped in the choral background for the annual Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, which last year was "Ruddigore."

The men were also kept busy last season when they participated in the annual combined men's glee clubs concert of the Washington area. Over 300 male voices took part in the Constitution Hall affair.

Ever since the club began, Dr. Robert H. Harmon, has been the sole director.

FTA Lists Plans, Elects Officers

THE FUTURE TEACHERS of America, the campus organization for education students, held its organizational meeting last Thursday in Woodhull House. Besides holding elections for this year's officers, plans were outlined for the semester's activities.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday November 1, at 8 p.m. in Woodhull House. Last year's graduate students from the School of Education will be the guests at an informal "Open House." The students will tell present members, planning to teach in the near future, the problems confronting the new teacher. All students are invited to attend.

The new officers elected last Thursday were: Edward Baker, president; Helen Elder, vice-president; Nina Segal, treasurer, and T. Darrell Drummond, secretary.

Author Addresses Club

THE UNIVERSITY Women's Club held its first meeting of the year at a luncheon last Friday, according to Mrs. Mitchell Dreese, club president.

Mrs. Bruce Fanestock, traveler and author, addressed the group. The author of "I Ran Away To Sea At Fifty," Mrs. Fanestock spoke on her experiences in "In the South Seas on a Schooner."

Colonials Hope Moore Can Help Pass Defense; Replaces Antaya

By TIM McENROE

• WITH THE APPOINTMENT to GW's football coaching staff of Wilbur Moore, head coach Bo Rowland was hoping to introduce a revitalized pass defense to Colonial gridiron fans. Moore, former All-Big Ten and star-pro football player with the Washington Redskins, succeeds former coach Roger Antaya, who resigned this year to accept a position at Bolling Field.

Upon the finish of a brilliant three years as a halfback at the University of Minnesota, Moore joined the Washington Redskins in 1939. He played a prominent role in three division championships and two world championships with the Skins until 1946, when he retired to accept the post of Redskins backfield coach, a position which he held through the 1950 season.

Knows Single-Wing

Having spent most of his playing days under the tutelage of such exponents of the single-wing as Bernie Bierman at Minnesota and Ray Flaherty and Dutch Bergman of the Redskins, Moore is no stranger to the system as taught by Rowland at GW.

Even though the soft-spoken Colonial backfield coach led all of Minnesota's Golden Gopher ball carriers in yards gained in 1938, his talents in the way of defense are what concern Rowland the most at the present time. Although Moore was a sixty minute ball player at Minnesota and played most of the time while with the Redskins, he was employed in his latter years of football as a pass defense man. Local sportswriters often hailed him as one of the best defensive players in the league.

Broke 12 Bones

On top of his offensive and defensive records, Moore has the unavoidable distinction of having suffered more broken bones than any other leading player in history: arm, shoulder, leg, hand twice, collarbone and rib four times and his nose three times.

When he wasn't hurt, Moore piled up the following records in his 72 games with the Redskins: scored 24 touchdowns; gained 761 yards on the ground and had a 5.21 yards per try average; caught 91 passes for 1,224 yards and a 13.45 yards per try average; made more yardage with pass receptions (213) in a single game than any other man in Redskin history.

Beat Michigan

Moore has often stated that his biggest pro thrill was catching a 38-yard pass from Sammy Baugh to beat the Chicago Bears for the world championship, 14-6, in 1942. His biggest collegiate thrill was scoring the touchdown that beat Michigan, 7-6, in 1938 in what is perhaps college football's greatest rivalry—Minnesota vs. Michigan.

The owner of a local gas station, Moore was delighted to be signed to coach the Buff squad, since it allows him to coach a system with which he is thoroughly familiar and gives him an opportunity to live in Washington, which he now calls home.

Wake Forest

came after Jim England, sensing a pass play, dropped back and intercepted a Johnny Dean aerial on VPI's 10-yard line. Davis scored on a delayed buck from seven yards out on second down, and GW led with only four minutes of the first quarter gone by.

Andy's second score came after a ten-yard run by Barreira and a 17-yard smash through the middle by Ken Belliveau took GW to VPI's eight-yard line, from where Davis ran over.

Sophs Come Through

But Coach Bo Rowland had more to cheer about than the usual good work of Davis. His sophomores and freshmen were giving him some encouragement at last. Marvin Rowles, big freshman tackle, stopped nearly every runner that came his way. Sophomore Ray Fox, who is slated to replace Davis next year, set up his own touchdown with a 29-yard pass to freshman end Richie Gaskell, who lugged the ball to VPI's ten. From there Fox scored in two plays.

Fox to Gaskell

The Fox to Gaskell combination clicked many times at Tech High School and Rowland is hoping to keep it going at GW. Gaskell, incidentally, caught three passes in the game for 54 yards; the only one he missed was way over his head.

Another freshman who played an outstanding game was Monte Montemarano, the boy tabbed by Rowland to fill the spot on the defensive line vacated by Gutt.

But it was Art Kojoyian who was the best lineman against VPI. Kojoyian was the man that was opening up those wide holes in the right side of the Gobblers' forward wall. He was also busy making tackles on defense, capably taking the place of the injured Contineti.

Bino Gets 107 Yards

Though Davis was unquestionably the best all-around player on the field, little Bino Barreira was the most dazzling runner in the contest. He picked up 107 yards rushing, 35 more on pass receptions, and 32 yards on kickoff returns for a total of 194 yards gained. His averages were: 8½ yards per try in rushing and 18 per try in pass receptions. By the way, he didn't miss a pass the entire night. Barreira also scored a touchdown on a five-yard smash, set up two others with long runs and overhead catches of Davis passes and made six first downs rushing.

England Comes Back

Jim England made a great comeback after being injured in an automobile accident two weeks ago. He set up GW's first touchdown with an interception, blocked an attempted conversion, rushed VPI passer Johnny Dean time after time and made tackles all over the place. Ken Belliveau also recovered nicely from his hip injury and scored a touchdown from nine yards out.

They finally gave Bob Cilento a chance to run the ball and he promptly showed his coaches the same form he had last year. Cilento gained 56 yards in eight tries for a seven-yard average. Out of the eight times he carried the ball, he made no less than five first downs. Bobby also threw two passes, both complete, for 25 yards and had GW on the five-yard line of VPI at the end of the game, after he was forced to call signals with Davis out.

Krupa Finds Tough Kennelly Nice Guy, Appoints Him Aide

By SAM FORTWINE

• WHEN GRADUATION finally brings down the curtain on college days, one can relieve memories and impressions but best of all recall good friends that helped make all those memories. The good friend who we have in mind and want to introduce to you is Joe Kennelly. Joe is one of the mainstays of our football team's defensive unit and also a star pitcher on the baseball team. He is the big, smiling, happy-go-lucky Irishman personified. His friendly air, likeable manners and mischievous smile make him popular with everyone who knows him.

Krupa Admired

Joe Krupa, who admires these traits, has just appointed Kennelly as one of his assistants in the Intramural Sports Department. The latter is a Physical Education Major and a better than average student.

We first met this hulking son of Ireland at freshman football practice in the fall of 1948. Joe was throwing his 6-1, 205 pound frame all over Frog Island, giving the coaching staff kittens as to what position they could fully utilize his potential. After meeting Joe I learned that he was from the heart of Brooklyn, N. Y., the Flatbush section. He attended St. Johns School and graduated from St. Johns prep in 1947 where he starred in football and baseball.

Meets Dolores

Upon graduation Joe decided that he should go to work. It was about this time that he had met Dolores Lotti and fell in love with her. He got a job working as a longshoreman and became a slave of the docks for the next year. During that time Joe decided it was not the type of job to devote a lifetime to. On a tip from a friend he came to G.W. in the spring, worked out with the football squad and was awarded an athletic scholarship.

Frat Football Begins; Close Scores Abound

Rule Stating that Most First Downs Can Win Tie Game Proves Helpful

By DAVE PAULSON

• THE FRATERNITY TOUCH Football League opened the season on October 14 and, if the first round games are any indication, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Tau Epsilon Phi, Sigma Nu, and Phi Alpha are going to give defending champion Sigma Chi a real fight for the 1951 gridiron title.

Phi Alpha 7-Phi Sigma Kappa 7

In the most thrilling game of the day, Jerry Sandier's fourth down pass to Bob Goldstein on the last play of the game gave Phi Alpha its sixth first down and the football game over a fighting Phi Sigma Kappa seven. Up to that point, both teams were tied in points and first downs. League rules decree that in case of ties, the team with the most first downs is the winner.

It was a tough loss for Phi Sig, since they had tied the score with only 40 seconds remaining in the game on a 20-yard payoff pass from Bill Leonard to Deacon Riecken and a Joe Inzina toss to the same Mr. Riecken for the extra point.

Phi Alpha scored early in the contest when Charlie Goldberg hit Goldstein with a 22-yard pass.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon 12—

Pi Kappa Alpha 6

Sigma Alpha Epsilon came from behind with two last-half touchdowns to topple the gridders of Pi Kappa Alpha, 12-6. Hilton passed 30 yards to Bill Hughes for SAE's first T.D. and Bill Giglio scooted around left end for the tie-breaking score.

Tau Kappa Epsilon 6—

Alpha Epsilon Pi 0

In the day's top defensive battle, Tau Kappa Epsilon blanked Alpha Epsilon Pi, 6-0. The game's only score occurred in the third quarter when John McDonough passed 20 yards to John Eilson in the end zone.

The game was hard-fought all the way but clean, with the only penalty of the contest being called because of a disputed play. Cal Burns paced the TKE ground game and AEPI's Jerry Golin got in some long runs in a losing cause.

Tau Epsilon Phi 26—

Kappa Sigma 12

Tossin' Tex Silverman of Tau Epsilon Phi threw three touchdown passes as he led the TEP to a 26-12 triumph over Kappa Sigma in the highest scoring game of the still-young campaign.

Four of the six T. D.'s were the result of passes and a fifth came on a run-back of an intercepted pass, as both teams filled the air with footballs.

Kenny Herschfield, Bob Marrero, and Bernie Boroson each caught Silverman passes for touchdowns, and Bernie Band intercepted a Kappa Sigma pass and ran it back for the final TEP tally.

Kappa Sigma's scores came on a 20-yard pass from Eck to Sibol and a 40-yard jaunt by Stadman.

Theta Delta Chi 8—

Delta Tau Delta 0

Featuring one of the biggest lines in the Fraternity Touch Football League, Theta Delta Chi downed a good Delta Tau Delta seven, 8-0.

Theta Delta Chi's Don Seagrist scored the game's only touchdown when he scampered for 50 yards in the first half. Delta Tau Delta's Roy Schlemmer fumbled the pigskin in the end zone which gave the Theta Delta boys two more points.

Sigma Nu 27-Kappa Alpha 0

Paced by the running of Risque Harper and John Merendino and the pin-point passing of Bill Marlow, Sigma Nu rolled over Kappa Alpha, 27-0, in the most decisive game of the League's first round.

Merendino broke the game wide open by scoring two touchdowns in the first three minutes of play. The Sigma Nu football ace ran back the opening kickoff, 65 yards for a touchdown. Marlow's pass to Bud Laubscher for the extra point was good.

A few minutes later Marlow spotted Merendino in the clear and hit him with a touchdown pass. Marlow ran the ball over for the extra point.

Kappa Alpha held Sigma Nu scoreless during the third quarter, but midway through the final period Harper sprinted 25 yards to the two-foot line and scored on the next play.

Defending champion Sigma Chi had an off day.

Kennelley

back to pre-war years, therefore small in number. Kennelley played every position on the team. We had only 16 members and Joe played wherever he was asked. We wound up the season with a 2 and 3 record.

Pitched One-Hitter

When Coach Bo Sherman issued a call for freshmen baseball players Joe rather naively clinched an outfield position while protestingly claiming he was a pitcher. Joe could throw the ball but in such unorthodox fashion that Coach Sherman was reluctant to use him. In desperation the Coach started Kennelley and in true Frank Merrill fashion he pitched a one-hitter, also hitting a home-run to win the game.

Since becoming eligible for the varsity, Joe has been strictly a defensive linebacker, teaming with Davey Shiver to give that added protection needed by a defensive line. In baseball Joe has done equally well. As a sophomore he was used strictly as a relief pitcher and saved several games in a fireman's role. Last year saw Joe playing regularly in the outfield and wielding a big bat offensively for the Colonials.

Joe Settles Down

On August 12, 1950, Dolores Lotti tripped Joe and threw him for a loss. They now live not so quietly in the Married Veterans Apartment Project. On October 2, Dolores presented to Joe a seven-pound, 13-ounce baby girl and baby Debra kills all quietness.

As Joseph Gerard Kennelley, whose parents incidentally both come from County Mayo, Ireland, gets closer to graduation, the Hatchet feels that you should know him better. No longer the wild Irishman of yore but a serious family man, Joe is still everyone's friend and all who have known him will forever remember him.

Colonial of the Week

IT TOOK FOUR GAMES, but Andy Davis finally broke loose Friday night against VPI to become the Hatchet's second Colonial of the Week.

Andy has played such great ball for GW for so long that everyone has come to take him for granted, with the result that he has to play better than sensational in order to be chosen for any sort of player of the week award—and that's what he did against the Gobblers.

Until he bruised his rib in the fourth quarter, Andy had played almost every minute of the game. His excellent signal calling and magnificent faking in the backfield had VPI's defense crossed up all night. On defense he saved two touchdowns by tackling VPI backs after they were past everyone on the team except himself.

In every way it was Andy Davis more than anyone else that led GW to that rout over the Gobblers. Wasting no time, he scored the Colonials' first two touchdowns, both on plunges through the middle of the line. The first covered seven yards and the second covered eight yards.

ANDY DAVIS

All told, Davis scored three touchdowns for the evening. But the record books won't show how many he set up. The following statistics demonstrate the true amount of damage Andy did to VPI: completed five of eleven passes for 75 yards . . . ran the ball 21 times for 116 yards . . . total yardage 199 . . . had only one pass intercepted . . . every time he passed it was for a first down . . . made seven first downs rushing, almost all of them through the center of VPI's line . . . made 12 total first downs . . . had 5½ yards average rushing . . . besides scoring three touchdowns, set up two more on passes . . . returned six punts for 60 yards total runbacks and an average of 10 yards per runback.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

"I should have kept my big mouth shut!"

Fresh out of Bivalve, N. J., he arrived on the campus all bug-eyed and his big mouth hanging open. He was immediately sucked into a "shell game" and found himself making all the quick-trick cigarette tests.

But his native instinct told him that such an important item as cigarette mildness couldn't be tossed off lightly. Millions of smokers everywhere have discovered, too, that there's but one true test of mildness.

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke...on a pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Hatchet Sports Editor

EVEN IF THEIR TEAM DID LOSE, VPI, as school, disgraced GW Friday night in Alexandria . . . Gobbler rooters were out in full force, shouting for a team that hasn't won a conference game since 1945 . . . When Andy Davis was hurt in the last quarter, the technicians sent up a cheer that reverberated through the stadium . . . But there was only a smattering of applause from GW's section . . . The Colonials aren't the only team that loses, but GW's rooters or students always do.

Art Gets Rough

ART KOJOYIAN was giving VPI's Passer Johnny Dean, a rough going over Friday night and the latter didn't like it . . . At one time Dean threatened to take a poke at Art, who calmly walked away from him . . . On the next play Kojoyian came crashing through the line and knocked Dean flat . . . The hapless Gobbler jogged off the field shaking his hand in pain . . . Dean wasn't the only VPI back that felt the wrath of a previously winless GW . . . Chester Gates, who scored VPI's second touchdown and was the Gobbler's entire running attack, was knocked cold when he made that touchdown gallop . . . Gates, incidentally, holds an unofficial record back in Gainestown, Alabama, where he scored 43 points in a single high school football game . . . This boy Dean, who is taking over a first string slot in the backfield at VPI while still a freshman, commanded more rave notices last year than any schoolboy back in recent Virginia history . . . First, the University of Virginia said he was going to their school; then Kentucky and Tennessee followed suit . . . They were all wrong.

Frank's A Joker

FRANK CONTINETTI, CONSIDERED THE JOKER of GW's football team, claims he no longer gets butterflies before a game . . . "I'm past that; now I'm in the second stage: cocoons," says Frank . . . Perhaps his biology prof can figure it out—I can't . . . The J. V. squad is operating without a real coach . . . The loss of Roger Antaya, Tony Cavallo and Tom Swett has forced the varsity coaches to double up with the freshmen . . . Ray Hanken is acting coach because he knows more about the boys than anyone else . . . As a comparison, Maryland employs nine coaches for varsity alone, which is roughly a coach for every six players . . . One week before GW's game with Georgia, the Colonials were 20-point underdogs . . . That was before Tom Coleman, athletic publicity director, hit Athens and showed everyone into believing that GW was only seven points worse than the Bulldogs . . . In pre-season practices Bino Barreira was taking a lot of ribbing about his size . . . Teammates were calling him "The World's Largest Midget" . . . They're not teasing him so much these days for some reason . . . It was interesting to see GW's two oldest players acting as co-captains before the Georgia game: Andy Davis, 24, and John Yednock, 27, both of whom have sizeable families now . . . By the way, coach Bo Rowland has abandoned the quick kick he employed in that Georgia game, in which GW had the ball only five downs in the entire first quarter.

More about Frank Continetto: when he was only seven years old, he injured his leg playing baseball . . . When he came out of the operation they performed on him, Frank found that one leg was one inch shorter than the other . . . For a big fellow with a handicap he really deserves a lot of credit for the way he moves around the football field . . .

Jack Tivnan was forced to give up football this year, if you're wondering what happened to him, because of a bad kneecap that was constantly giving him trouble . . . Dixie Howell, star GW guard of two years ago, is now coaching at a Georgia high school . . . Coaching there in Athens must be good pickin's . . . Wally Butts, Georgia's coach, owns a restaurant designed for students . . . It operates something like D. C.'s Hot Shoppes, is the only place of its kind down there and is cleaning up.

Players Optimistic

YOU CAN'T BLAME COLONIAL coaches and football players for being optimistic before the season began . . . Of the 20 touchdowns GW scored last year, 17 were by boys who are still on the varsity . . . The boys thought they were going to spring some real upsets this year and were terribly disappointed when they took three straight beatings . . . Here's a possible answer: the Colonials have come out of the dressing room onto the field with usually 35 men on the squad . . . Maryland fielded 52, Virginia 50, and Georgia about 70 . . . Latest word on Steve Korcheck is that he may be held out for the remainder of the season.

GW's tackles at least will be in for a rough evening against Wake Forest Friday night . . . I was talking to Jim Hall the other day . . . He's a 6-1, 205-pound tackle for the Deacons and used to play ball for Joe Carlo at Woodrow Wilson High School here in D. C. . . Jim says that he's third string in his sophomore year at Wake Forest and that every tackle on the squad is at least ten pounds heavier than he . . . One of them is a Bill George, who at 230 pounds is rated a cinch to make All-American . . . George does just about everything: punts, kicks extra points, plays offense and defense and has three years experience behind him to boot . . .

400 Needed For Kentucky Trip

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO Railroad Company has offered the University a $15.87 round trip fare per student to Lexington, Kentucky for the Colonials' game with the Wildcats on November 17.

In order for the deal to go through, a minimum of 400 fares must be obtained for the trip. Students will board an air-conditioned train leaving D. C. at 6:00 p. m. Friday evening (November 16) and will arrive in Lexington the following morning at 8:30.

After the game Saturday, the train will leave for D. C. at 7:00 p. m. and will arrive at 9:30 Sunday morning. There will be a coach for sandwiches, coffee and other refreshments adjoined to the special GW cars.

For further information, students should contact Bob Mackie at 1301 Massachusetts Avenue, N. W. (National 9683).

Determined Colonials Revived By Impressive Win Over VPI

"HERE'S MUD IN YER EYE," seems to be the expression of Colonial end Tom Reilly as he gets away with a little shoving on an ill-tempered VPI defensive back in the second period of Friday night's football game. Kenny Belliveau, the high stepping ball carrier to the right of Reilly, takes a second's time out to chuckle over the plight of the dirt-eating Gobbler, John Prater (50), VPI center, made a dive for Belliveau but missed as Kenny continued on for a long gain.

IF EVER A FOOTBALL team needed a convincing victory under their belts it was a disheartened Colonial squad, what with the prospect of a gloomy homecoming against mighty Wake Forest Next Friday night at Griffith Stadium.

Their 38-13 shellacking of winless VPI came at a time when the Buffmen were at their lowest ebb of the 1951 season. They'll be opposing a team currently ranked second in the country in defense in Wake Forest, without three of their best linemen: Frank Contineti, Bob Gutt and Steve Korcheck.

Defense Best Chance

Since GW's best chance of winning will be to hold the Deacon's score down as they did in last year's game, the three injured players, all defensive men, will be missed greatly. Last year Wake Forest was the number one defensive team in the country, and GW's defense held them down to a 13-0 victory.

But Contineti and Gutt were key men in last year's game; and this season the Deacs have it offensively, too. In rolling over Boston College, Richmond and N. C. State, Wake Forest has averaged about 410 yards per game in total offense. However, William and Mary showed that the Deacs can be beaten when they upset them 7-6.

Repeat for Davis

It might be a closer game now that GW has finally entered the win column. The team is "up" by the Deacons that Handy Andy was called in. He calmly proceeded to pass for 105 of the Colonials' 167 yards total offense, including a 36-yard aerial to Jimmy Kline for a touchdown. Even though the Colonials lost, 27-13, it was the launching of the career of one of the Southern Conference's great football players.

Davis Scores

Rifle Team Needs Men

BOASTING OF A SUCCESSFUL season last year, GW's rifle team will begin practice for the 1951 season tomorrow at the rifle range in the basement of Corcoran Hall between 11:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m.

Whitney Minklov, team manager, urges everyone who is interested in coming out for the rifle team to attend the first practice tomorrow. No experience or equipment is necessary to join the team. Riflemen with previous experience will train candidates for the team and the university will supply all equipment.

Minklov says that most of the team graduated last year, leaving plenty of berths open to GW newcomers, and that it is a good opportunity for all A. F. R. O. T. C. students to improve their marksmanship. Although the rifle team is a separate organization from the Air Force R. O. T. C., it is possible for students to belong to both. The latter recommends the rifle team highly for its students.

In addition to the team's annual trek to New York City and their meet with the Naval Academy, other trips are being planned this year. Practices are being arranged so that everyone on the team will receive lots of opportunities to demonstrate their shooting skills.

Men who were on the squad last year will remember that the rifle range was in need of painting and other repairs. This has been taken care of this season. Painting has been completed and the entire range has been refinished.

Any man desiring more information about the team should contact Whitney Minklov at GE 2846.

Injured Players Ready for Deacs

BINO BARREIRA, Kenny Belliveau and Andy Davis, all of whom were injured in Friday night's game with VPI, will be ready to go against Wake Forest this weekend.

Barreira and Belliveau were stricken with cramps in their legs before the contest, and it finally caught up to them in the last quarter. Davis received only a bruised hip and is all right now.

Trainer Mike Monchovich reported that Frank Contineti was examined by a doctor the other day and although x-rays reveal nothing, it is too early to say anything definite. Tom Flyzik, who like Contineti was injured in the Maryland game, was having fits because Mike wouldn't let him in the VPI contest. He's being saved for the Deacons Friday night.

and they're looking to Andy Davis to more or less end his career in the same way as he began it over three years ago.

It was in 1948 that GW's freshman squad journeyed south to face Wake Forest, with a lad named Davis listed as a second-string quarterback. By the second quarter, GW's backs were so befuddled

Sailors Meet

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S sailors gathered at Buzzard's Point last Saturday to begin the fall season with a roaring party and lots of sailing.

Old and new members enjoyed hot dogs, chips and beer while swapping wild sail-stories and racing the lively Tempest on the Anacostia River.

The party was part of a "Welcome Program" which began at the first meeting Wednesday evening when 21 new members met with the old salts to discuss the policy for the coming year. It was decided to sail at Buzzard's Point Saturday and Sunday all day and Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from one until three p.m. Arrangements will be made to have old skippers on hand to teach neophytes.

The club elected a new slate of officers for the fall term. Dick Manzano was chosen as commodore, John Dodge as vice-commodore, Frances Oerlein as rear commodore, Martha Marshall, Secretary, and Lorenz Schenk, treasurer.

The second meeting of the fall term will be held on October 24 at 8:15 p.m. in the Student Union Annex. A color film of the "1949 Honolulu Race of the Morning Star" will be shown. All students are cordially invited to attend.
